

CONTACT:

Sharon Ritchey
Director, External Communications
Women's Fiction Writers Association
communications@womensfictionwriters.org

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CELEBRATE THE FIRST ANNUAL WOMEN'S FICTION DAY ON JUNE 8, 2019

May 21, 2019 (Washington, D.C.) — The Women's Fiction Writers Association (WFWA) is pleased to announce the first ever Women's Fiction Day on June 8, 2019, in celebration of women's fiction authors, novels, publishers, book sellers, and most importantly, readers who appreciate women's fiction and the power of a great story.

What Is Women's Fiction?

Women's fiction includes layered stories in which the plot is driven by the main character's emotional journey. The stories can be contemporary or historical, and may have magical, mystery, thriller, romance, or other elements.

The Women's Fiction Day logo represents the organization's inclusivity, the joy of reading, and the infinite number of stories that fall under this vibrant genre.

"We selected June 8 because it's a celebratory month when many people enjoy summer reading, relaxation, and the start of the vacation season," says Tasha Seegmiller, WFWA President. "Summer signals a time to slow down, relax, visit a local library or bookstore, and discover new novels to experience during this beautiful season – and throughout the entire year."

Ways to Celebrate Women's Fiction Day

- Visit www.womensfictionwriters.org and subscribe to the free Read On! Newsletter where we'll keep you up-to-date on new women's fiction authors and titles.
- Visit the WFWA shelf on Goodreads to find hundreds of titles.
- Visit your local library and/or bookstore to discover new authors and novels.
- Follow WFWA on Twitter @WF_Writers or Instagram womensfictionwriters
- On social media, #bookstagram your favorite book and include a photo or stack
- Host or attend a women's fiction book club event.

The Women's Fiction Writers Association (WFWA) was founded in 2013 and is now the premier organization for women's fiction. The organization fosters an online community of inclusion and opportunity, and provides resources, professional development, networking, and support for aspiring, debut, and published women's fiction authors, as well as industry professionals.